In this introduction to sustainable landscaping practices, Linda Chalker-Scott addresses the most common myths and misconceptions that plague home gardeners and horticultural professionals. Chalker-Scott offers invaluable advice to gardeners who have wondered: o Are native plants the best choice for sustainable landscaping? o Should you avoid disturbing the root ball when planting? o Are organic products better or safer than synthetic ones? o What is the best way to control weeds—fabric or mulch? o Does giving vitamins to plants stimulate growth? o Are compost teas effective in controlling diseases? o When is the best time to water in hot weather? o If you pay more, do you get a higher-quality plant? o How can you differentiate good advice from bad advice? The answers may surprise you. In her more than twenty years as a university researcher and educator in the field of plant physiology, Linda Chalker-Scott has discovered a number of so-called truths that originated in traditional agriculture and that have been applied to urban...
